Two Couples Find Romance Fleeting

Mrs. Norma A. Wray Says Husband Deserted Her and Unborn Babe—J. L. Harman Wed But a Day

Romance was short lived in two marriages which suits filed in Circuit Court today seek to dissolve.

Norma A. Wray, seeking a severance of her marital tie with Raymond Wray, declares that they were married on February 16 of last year and that her husband deserted her in June.

The plight of Joseph D. Harman was equally as distressing. In his suit for divorce from Grace R. Harman, he asserts that they were married in St. Joseph on May 1, 1923, but that on the following day his bride, "without just cause or provocation," deserted him and ever since has remained away from him.

The Wrays have one child, Marvin Edward, of whom the mother asks custody. She also asks that the court require the husband to provide support for her and the child. Pending hearing of the suit, she asks for temporary alimony and suit money.

Harmon, in his petition, states that the present whereabouts of his wife are unknown.

Will Begin Building Next Month on 150 Foot Frontage on College Avenue, Facing Lamkin Residence

F. M. Townsend, head of the Townsend Wholesale Grocery Co., today bought from Mrs. C. T. Bell a frontage of 150 feet on College avenue and has announced his intention of building a residence on the site this spring.

Mr. Townsend has not completed his plans, but expects work to begin next month. The College avenue lots are in a section much favored of late and face the president's residence on the State Teachers College campus. They are immediately west of the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Robinson.

The lots, 132 feet deep and with a small house, were sold for $3,500.

May Not Get Licenses Before Jan. 1, 1927

Maryville Motorists Had Better Hurry, Advises D. A. Caldwell, Secretary of Chamber of Commerce.

One hundred and twenty-eight state automobile licenses were sold at the Maryville Chamber of Commerce office yesterday. Of this number, only fifteen or about 12 per cent went to local automobile owners. Of the 444 licenses sold during the last three days, only 77 have been purchased by Maryville citizens. At this rate, D. A. Caldwell, secretary of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce, in charge of distribution, believes that all Maryville motorists will not have their 1926 car licenses by January 1, 1927.

J. J. Ennis of Clyde purchased nine car licenses, the largest number secured on Thursday by any one individual.

In the ten days car licenses have been available at the Chamber of Commerce office, 1,458 sets of plates have been sold. This is an average of practically 150 per day.

Fourteen more working days remain in this month. Local motorists are requested not to make application for their licenses on Saturday between the hours of 10 a. m., and 4 p. m., in order to make room for the large number of persons who come to Maryville on that day from all over Northwest Missouri.

"VIC" MILLER DROPS BOMB

ASSAILS SENATOR WILLIAMS IN SPEECH.

SLAPS AT CLEMENTS

St. Louis Mayor Declares National Committeemen Has "Vague Idea Of Political Expediency."

Springfield, Mo., Feb. 12.—Mayor Victor J. Miller of St. Louis, speaking before the Republican Editorial Association of Missouri today, threw a bomb shell into the Republican state pow wow when he charged United States Senator George H. Williams had not only betrayed President Coolidge but had turned his back on a vast majority of the Senate and House in opposing the world court.

Mayor Miller warned the Republicans that if the "bell wethers" of the party are permitted to return Williams to the Senate they will only be sending a man that "will be playing a flute in Jim Reed's jazz orchestra."

Mayor Miller charged that the Association of Young Republicans, which is meeting here for the annual Lincoln Day banquet tonight, has fallen into the hands of "a lot of bell wethers who have been using this organization for personal political expediency."

This is the most caustic charges that has been made against the Republican organization and is regarded as significant in view of the fact that Mayor Miller has been considered a probable candidate for the Republican Senatorial nomination in opposition to Senator Williams.

The mayor took a verbal punch at Dr. E. B. Clements, Republican national committeeman for Missouri, when he declared the committeeman has a vague idea of "political expediency. He referred to the statement made by Dr. Clements when the mayor, "although honest in his work," was about to be removed as a member of the police commission of St. Louis.

Springfield, Mo., Feb. 12.—By a margin of only one vote, George Hagee of St. Louis, former member of the state tax commission, today was elected president of the Association of Young Republicans of Missouri over Mayor Albert I. Beach of Kansas City. The final vote was 16 to 15.

Mayor Beach was trotted out at the last minute as a compromise candidate for the forces which had attempted to elect Hal O. Harrawood, executive secretary to Governor Sam A. Baker.

BANK CASHIER GIVES SELF UP

"MY CONSCIENCE HURT," SAYS LESLIE LYCHTENBERG

HELD IN COUNTY JAIL

Missing Official Says He Had Been in Texas Since Disappearance From New Florence

Montgomery City, Feb. 12.—Leslie H. Lychtenberg, defaulting cashier of the Farmers Bank of New Florence, surrendered to authorities here today.

The young cashier, whose disappearance two weeks ago disclosed a shortage of $23,500 in the Farmers Bank, drove into the courtyard and surrendered to Sheriff Jack Farmer. He was accompanied by his father-in-law, Tim Gullon, of Gore, Mo.

"My conscience hurt," Lychtenberg said as he surrendered to Farmer.

Lychtenberg said he had been in Dallas, Tex., for the last two weeks since leaving New Florence. Outside of the one statement that his conscience hurt, Lychtenberg refused to talk, on advice of his attorney, Will Hughes of Montgomery City.

Former Governor Dockery 81 Thursday

Former Governor A. M. Dockery of Gallatin celebrated his eighty-first birthday at his home there yesterday. The Gallatin Democrat, of which Herschel Colbert, son of Dean and Mrs. George H. Colbert of this city, is editor, issued a "Dockery Edition," dedicating it to the former governor with the following tribute:

"Alive, keen, alert, and as someone said of him recently, 'with mind aglow, like the evening star';

"Carrying on as the staunch friend, patriot and true American citizen he has always been;

"An example for his fellowmen and an inspiration for the school children—always close to his heart—who this afternoon are enjoying the annual custom of being his guests at a special motion picture matinee.

"Governor Dockery's record of life long service to his community, state and country is like an open book to this community. The people know it through and through. It is a record to be proud of and that is worthy of repetition always for its picture of what a citizen, imbued with the true ideals of Americanism can do for his fellow beings."

Fred Lyle, south of Maryville, shipped hogs to St. Joseph yesterday.

LEADERS END COAL STRIKE

SATISFACTORY AGREEMENT FORMALLY APPROVED.

MEN BACK TO WORK

Terms Will Not Be Made Known Until After Joint Conference—Based On New Contract.

Philadelphia, Feb. 12.—The anthracite coal strike, the most costly in the history of the industry, is settled, it was officially announced this afternoon.

The announcement was made after a joint meeting of the operators and miners which followed a meeting of the miners full scale committee of forty-one.

The joint committee's official announcement said:

"At a meeting of the anthracite joint conference a tentative agreement was adopted. This agreement will be submitted to a tri-district convention for approval of which the contracts, if accepted, will be formally adopted."

The decision of the tri-district convention is understood to be a mere formality.

Thus ends the most bitterly-fought strike war in history. The strike lasted 165 days, or about five and a half months, exactly one day longer than the historic strike of 1902.

Philadelphia, Feb. 12—The miners coal scale committee today ratified the peace pact between the operators and miners to end the coal strike without modifying any of the proposed terms. Several delegates in the meeting admitted this following adjournment of the scale committee meeting which was in session for more than two hours.

Official announcement of the settlement will not be forthcoming, however, until after the meeting of the joint conference, it was said.

Scranton, Pa., Feb. 12—A tri-district convention of anthracite miners will be called to this city next Monday to ratify the agreement reached today by the miners and operators in Philadelphia, it was stated this afternoon.

Washington, Feb. 12.—An agreement between the operators and miners to end the long hard coal strike will be signed in Philadelphia this afternoon, International News Service learned from a reliable source today.

The warring factions have agreed to the settlement plan and leaders of the operators and miners will attach their signatures to the agreement at a joint conference called for 1 o'clock this afternoon.

The settlement will be based on a new five-year contract and miners will return to work at the present wage scale.

Secretary of Labor Davis was instrumental in bringing the operators and miners together, it was learned. The settlement plan was carried by Davis to the cabinet meeting this morning and was received with satisfaction by President Coolidge and his advisors.

There have been hundreds of loads of Nodaway and Atchison county corn shipped to Texas this fall, as Texas had a corn failure last year. Corn will not keep in that state if it is shucked, so it is shipped here snapped.—Burlington Junction Post.

REBELS LOSE IN TAX FIGHT

SENATE REPELS EFFORTS FOR NEW LEVY.

LEADERS FEAR LOSS

Many Senate Amendments Expected To Be Rejected By House Of Representatives.

Washington, Feb. 12.—The Republican-Democratic coalition today again repelled the independent efforts to set a tax upon large gifts and inheritances when the Senate killed another Norris amendment.

Washington, Feb. 12—The progressive drive which wrecked the administration's tax reduction plans centered this afternoon on an effort to revise the new inheritance taxes. The progressives supported an amendment proposed by Senator Norris, Republican of Nebraska, for making all gifts and inheritances subject to the income surtax rates with exemptions of $50,000 for all gifts within a family.

This would place a tax ranging from 1 per cent at $10,000 to 20 per cent at $100,000 upon all family inheritances exceeding $50,000.

Washington, Feb. 12.—With the 459-million-dollar tax reduction authorized by the rebellious Senate and, deserted by their former Democratic allies, administration leaders today endeavored to restore enough taxes to the new revenue bill to prevent a deficit in the treasury for the next fiscal year.

The administration leaders centered their drive first to restore the twenty-four-million-dollar tax on admissions and dues, a provision for a 10 per cent levy, with an exemption of 75 cents, and, second, to restore other taxes when the bill goes to conference.

Many of the Senate amendments, it was said, will be rejected by the House and the old schedule may ultimately be restored.

The Democratic deflection has grown like a mushroom. Two additional reductions were ordered last night. The rebels first adopted the House rates on alcohol and then they increased the allowances on oil depletion to 30 per cent in any oil company's gross income.

State control of metropolitan police systems has failed.

The personnel turnover in Kansas City and St. Joseph is so high that police service represents little more than casual employment for the rank and file.

The Kansas City patrol force by progressive diminution has become utterly inadequate.

Recommendations Requiring Legislative Action

The women of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Maryville, while commending the action to close the pool halls here, feel that something better in the way of recreation centers should be furnished. It is a duty we owe our community.

We, as a city, are proud of the Country Club but must admit it is for the privileged few. The same thing is true of the Elks Club which does not reach or accommodate the many. The High School and College furnish their students recreation facilities and, to a certain degree, the churches contribute.

Yet with all of these, ther is a wrong sentiment existing among those best informed that there is a lack here. Also, that that would be met to a great degree by the establishment of a Young Men's Christian Association.

A building, properly equipped, would furnish reading rooms, a gymnasium and various games. The association is an organization open to all who wish to belong, regardless of church or creed. It is within the reach of the many who are unable to belong to other social organizations.

The Young Men's Christian Association is 82 years old and was begun by two boys organizing a small company. It now comes in contact with ten million boys eah year. Why not with ouh boys?

Quoting, in regard to a near by city, a state secretary says it gives to the poorer boy the same opportunity as the richer boy is afforded in the study of the bible, athletics and development of character."

The YELLOW STUB by Ernest Lynn

COPYRIGHT 1926 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

HENRY RAND, 55, a business man, is found murdered in a cheap hotel in GRAFTON. Police find a woman's handkerchief and a yellow ticket stub from a theater in Springfield.

JIMMY RAND, Henry's son, goes to Springfield. The ticket stub is traced to a THOMAS FOGARTY, who says he gave it to OLGA MAYNARD, a cabaret singer. A search is started for her.

Jimmy meets and falls in love with MARY LOWELL. Later he encounters Olga Maynard, and she faints when he tells her she is suspected of murder. Mary, out with SAMUEL CHURCH, a wealthy lawyer, sees Jimmy with Olga in his arms and breaks with him.

Police arrest Olga, who admits she used the ticket stub and identifies the handkerchief as hers, but tells police a man who was out with her two nights before the murder might have got hold of them.

Police ask her who the man was and she doesn't know. She says he "picked her up." Jimmy believes her story and decides to help her. That night he finds a note in his room warning him to leave Springfield. A telephone calls follows, telling him the same thing.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XV.

The anonymous note, followed by the mysterious telephone call, left Jimmy Rand bewildered. He got little sleep on the train ride to Grafton.

He was not sure whether it was a practical joke or whether the note was from someone who really had an object in getting him out of town.

He tossed about, recalling in sequence the swiftly moving events that had transpired since he came to Springfield, and trying vainly to unravel the plot that seemed to be weaving about him.

Perhaps his father's actual murderer, or someone who was involved in the crime, had learned he was in Springfield and feared detection if he remained.

That sort of melodrama would never run him off, he told himself.

His mind refused to work as he wanted it to. Invariably his thoughts would come back to Mary Lowell.

It hurt him that she should cut him coldly without giving him an opportunity to explain the position she had found him in with Olga Maynard. Why should people—especially Mary Lowell—be so ready to believe the worst of him? His jaw set grimly. Well. . . .

Back in Grafton, he went straight home to his mother's house. Her old sharp air and scolding manner were gone. In their place was an attitude of resigned dejection. He knew without being told that she brooded incessantly over Henry Rand's death.

"Are you back home to stay, James?" she asked while his arms were still about her.

"No, mother. Just for a day. I've got to see Barry." Briefly he told her why, and she wept silently.

"Where's Janet?" he asked.

She had gone to do the marketing. Martha Rand told him. Just then he saw Janet coming along the old familiar boardwalk, her arms full of bundles.

She greeted him with a long kiss and clung to him, but she seemed cheerful and composed.

"Fine, Sis. I've come home to arrange with the district attorney for the release of a woman who may lead us to the murderer. Sounds mysterious, doesn't it? And it is ,too. It's got me all up in the air." He told her of the progress they had made in Springfield.

It seemed she had a job playing the piano in a moving picture theater. Martha Rand sighed audibly as Janet told him.

"Mother doesn't approve." Janet smiled at him. "She doesn't like to have me out in the evenings."

"I don't either, Sis. Why did you do it? You don't have to work. There's enough money to keep things going for quite a while without me. Besides, I'll be back home before very long. What does Barry think of it—or don't you see Barry any more?"

Yes, she saw Barry frequently. He didn't like her working one bit. Told her she was a fool.

"That's the second time he's called me a fool," she said. "The other, you know—"

"Yes, I know," he put in hurriedly. "He was right both times. Sis, there's no need for you to keep this job. Quit it."

She would not, she told him. He didn't get her viewpoint. "With father dead, I'm sharing the responsibility equally with you. Do you think I intend to sit back and see you take it all?"

"You've enough to get along with," he said stubbornly. "There's no need for you to work."

"Enough to get along on, yes, Jimmy. But I'm not satisfied that way. I'm looking ahead. I've been coddled in this family all my life. Father never said so, but my music lessons represented quite a sacrifice. Now they're going to pay dividends."

She smiled. "I'm a producer from now on, Jimmy."

The doorbell rang. It was Barry Colvin.

"I got your telegram, Jim."

"Yes, Barry, I'm going to need you. You know the district attorney here, don't you?"

"Jack Gilbreath? An old friend of mine."

"Well, come on, then. We're going down to see him. Be back later, Mother," he called.

"I'm beginning to think that's the answer to your father's murder," said Barry. "He was in someone's way."

District Attorney Gilbreath was affability itself when Barry Colvin introduced Jimmy as his best friend, but a frown creased his brow when Barry explained what Jimmy wanted.

"Impossible, Barry," he said. "Detective Mooney was in to see me last evening. From what he told me, this woman Olga Maynard, if she isn't actually the murderer, is certainly mixed up in it in some way. The only way we'll ever run on to her partner is to keep her until she wears out and tells on him. They all do sooner or later.

"I'm about ready to go to the grand jury now and ask for an indictment," he added. "We want her here in Grafton."

"But you don't know it all," protested Jimmy. He told Olga Maynard's story of the red-headed man who had taken her to the cafe. "He's the man that registered at the Canfield Hotel—I'll bet my life on it."

"Maybe that's all very true, Rand, but how do you know she isn't holding back his name? She might be afraid to tell on him."

"She's telling the truth—I know it," Jimmy persisted. "Just grant, for the sake of argument, that her story is true. How would we ever run onto this fellow? If she's turned loose she probably will find him in time. Chances are he's still in Springfield, cheerfully ignorant of the fact that we're looking for him."

The district attorney picked up a glass paper weight and toyed with it thoughtfully. "Rand," he said, "we've got to make an arrest in this case—aside from the fact that it has to be cleaned up. I'm speaking from a selfish point of view. The town is worked up over it, and they look to the police and to me to clear it up.

"Suppose, now, that we let this Maynard woman loose and she cleared out. Why, I'd look like the biggest sucker in the world. I've got to think of next November, you know. That's election time."

"On the other hand," Barry put in, "if she turns up this man, the case will be cleared up and you could run for governor. Remember this, Jack. All you've got on the woman is circumstantial evidence. Nobody's going to convict her."

"If I were sure that she wouldn't skip out," Gilbreath answered slowly, "I'd do it."

"I'll be personally responsible for her, Mr. Gilbreath," said Jimmy. "Remember, my interest in this thing is even stronger than yours. That's why I'm staying in Springfield. I'll see that she reports every day to the police. We'll fix it so she can't gt away if she tried."

Gilbreath smiled at Jimmy's earnestness. "That would be pretty hard to do, Rand. However, your interests in it are larger than the state's, I suppose. It's taking a chance—but I'll do it."

* * *

Janet met Barry and Jimmy at the door with a telegram in her hand.

"It just came, Jimmy. It is important."

He opened it and read it, then crumpled it slowly in his hand. "No, Sis, nothing important." He led Barry into the living room, leaving Janet where she stood. She looked at him curiously, then turned away.

He threw the telegram toward Barry. "Funny," he remarked, and sat down.

"I don't get it, Jim." Barry was puzzled. He read it again: "Stay where you are." It was unsigned.

"I don't get it myself, Barry. Listen." With hands clasped on his knee and puzzled frown wrinkling his forehead, he made Barry eyewitness to that last night in his room in Springfield—the finding of the anonymous note and the phone call that followed.

Barry sat in thoughtful silence. Then—"It was something to do with the murder, Jim. You're in somebody's way and they won't hesitate to remove you if you don't get out. I'm beginning to think that's the answer to your father's murder—he, too, was in someone's way.

"Jim, just how much of your dad's past life did you know? Were there any enemies? Did he know anyone in Springfield?"

"Not a one in the world, Barry, and as far as I know he never was in Springfield in his life."

"Jim—forgive me, old man—was there ever a—a woman?"

Jimmy shot him a piercing look. His mouth set in a hard, straight line. "You know blamed well, Barry—"

"Don't misunderstand me, Jim. Did your father ever have anything in his private life that—"

"His private life, Barry, was like an open book."

"You'd be surprised," said Barry softly, "how little we know of one another's private lives. This thing, Jim, comes out of your father's past." He repeated: "Out of the past."

After Sickness Get Strong Quick

New Pleasant Way To Take Cod Liver Oil—Puts On Weight.

Nothing like the wonderful vitalizing vitamines in Cod Liver Oil to help convalescing people to quickly get strong and well—everybody knows that.

But nobody wants to take the ill-smelling, horrible tasting, stomach upsetting oil itself, so nowadays, up to date medical men are ordering a tablet of Cod Liver Oil and it surely has proved a blessing to thousands of people who have been sapped of their natural strength after a severe illness and especially after the Grippe or a stubborn cough or cold.

Ask Gaugh & Evans or any druggist for a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets. They cost but little, are sugar coated and as pleasant to take as candy.

Skinny men and women take them to speedily put on plenty of good healthy solid flesh and for this purpose they are so extremely good that thin men and women often take on 5 pounds or more in 30 days. As a matter of fact, your druggist is authorized to return your money if you don't take on 5 pounds in 30 days.

Be sure and ask for McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—60 Tablets—60 cents.—Adv.

Says Officers Terrors to All Lawbreakers

(Hopkins Journal).

Sheriff L. B. Campbell and County Attorney, Pat Wright, of Maryville, were Hopkins visitors last Thursday and while here dropped in at newspaper headquarters for a short chat. These officials are proving themselves terrors to law breakers, "cleaning up" Maryville and outside towns in a way that would put even "Old Dutch Cleanser" to shame. These two men alone could not get very far but with the backing of the courts and the people, much is being accomplished. This paper believes that fully nine-tenths of the people are with them for law enforcement and bootleggers, gamblers and other undesirables might as well decide to take up some other vocation or leave Nodaway county.

The Mouth -- Very Interesting

They come in all sizes, shapes and colors and contain everything from pale crockery up to and including precious stones. Many mean things have been said about mouths that were a bit too gabby—the worst being a remark that Dutch Sabin made to a chap who insisted on talking instead of listening. Dutch opined: "Shet up that trap! You won't learn nuthin through your mouth!"—which was a mouthful of pure, clean wisdom!

Germs use the mouth as a port of entry to the human system, merely visiting long enough to get their bearings before starting in on their careers of crime and trouble! Must make a germ feel real "put out" to meet up with some of the dope we've got here to worry 'em.

First Necessity—A GOOD Tooth Brush

We have a sufficient variety of Tooth Brushes here to fit any mouth in town! There's no ONE kind of brush that's good for EVERYONE. And for Pete's sake, be sure that you are using your brush so that it won't tear the gums away from the teeth!

Second Necessity—A GOOD Tooth PASTE!

Manufacturers offer a wide variety each with its special reason for being worth while. There's some excellent powders, too, and several fluids, which have peculiar, medicinal properties especially beneficial. In fact, we're all broke out in just a whole fleet of fine tooth preparations! Come in and get measured for some!

Third Necessity—A Mouth WASH!

It's gotta be a good, sound disinfectant to do its FULL duty!' It also must have some tonic qualities in order to refresh the delicate membranes of the throat, gums and mouth. Remember when you use it you're chasing the goats of a pile of germs, so figger carefully when you select your mouth wash! All prices.

Dental Floss!

If you have every other tooth in your mouth pulled out, so there'll be a wide space between each remaining tooth, there is no need at all of you bothering to get any dental floss. It may be, however, that you'd PREFER to KEEP these teeth, so you'd better get a roll of floss after all.

False Teeth Powder!

A bit sprinkled on the plate makes it STAY PUT! You can listen to stories of all kinds without fear of laffin your teeth out on your lap! DeWernet's Powder for False Teeth, prescribed by dentists (30c to 60c), is the sort we recommend. It's hotspit for results.

Toothache!

Don't read this! Makes me feel bad to write it and certainly I can't blame anyone for turning the page at this point. Bring your ake and tooth in and we BELIEVE we can make the dern thing quit!

What Nodaway County Churches Are Doing

SIGN POSTS ALONG THE WAY

Comment on the Uniform International Sunday School Lesson for February 14, 1926.
Read John 10.

Wm. Southern, Jr.

The Golden Text—"I am the good shepherd; the good shepherd layeth down his life for the sheep."—John 10:11.

Touring in an automobile not long ago through the wide prairies of Western Kansas and Eastern Colorado and into the Rocky Mountains, I began to believe in signs. Our way was marked and for the most part lay straight ahead. At every turn were sign boards and arrows pointing the way. It was almost impossible to get lost.

Many times the sign boards turned us to the north, then to the west through a small city and then again to the south where we again struck the main highway after driving at least a mile out of our way. Had we known the road we could have driven straight ahead and saved, not only the miles, but the experience of rough streets.

Then this thought came to me. The ways we travel in our journey for the few years we live are often made more difficult and the roads rougher by denominational detours. Trying to find God we turn aside at a sign board and find that it is a Presbyterian detour, or a Methodist detour, or a Baptist detour, or another of the nearly 200 denominational detours. Those who placed these denominational signs were just as sincere and just as honest as possible. To him the city off at one side was home and they not only wanted everybody to go the right way but were very sure that theirs was the right way. They, nowadays, do not denounce other denominations, even admit that they are good enough, but theirs is certainly the best. The traveller, however, soon discovers that all these ways ultimately rejoin the main highway and all lead on toward the mountains of desire.

In a beautiful little allegory Jesus taught his great truth and pointed out The Way. He was walking one day with his disciples through the countryside when he came to a sheep fold. It was an enclosure surrounded and protected by a strong fence of thorns. At only one place was an opening. There were many such through Palestine at that time, raising sheep was one of the main industries and shepherds were honored and their duties well known. Jesus pointed out the sheep fold. He told of the shepherd, who himself was the gate. There was no shutter for the gate into the fold and there the shepherd stood, himself the gate. Jesus said:

"I am the Good Shepherd and I know mine own and mine own know me . . . . and I lay down my life for the sheep."

The illustration would not have been a good one had Jesus and his disciples been walking along in our western cattle country where sheep are despised and He not have not have used it. But in Palestine at that time it was a perfect illustration of himself and his work.

It brought strikingly to the minds of his disciples the exact thing he wanted to bring. Just then the Jewish high priests and rulers were denouncing Jesus. They claimed that the only way to God was through the regularly organized orthodox Jewish church. That the only way to God was to become a Jew if you were not one, submit to circumcision, pay the necessary 'fees, pass through the ceremonies of ritualistic purification and come out saved. This was a way marked by many sign boards. Jesus pointed out a better way, the direct the simple way to God, a way which anyone may travel. His life here was for the purpose of pointing out that way.

The Way of Life which he points out to us so clearly is not always the way we want to go. It means a law abiding life, it means an unselfish life, it means a life of work and endeavor, devoted always for the helping, the uplifting of others. It means that our contact with other men shall not be for our own selfish benefit, but for the joy and pleasure and the welfare of those with whom we are thrown. And, curiously enough, though many may dispute this, His way is the most joyous, the most happy and the way which pays the biggest dividends.

Most of us are speed-sick. We are not willing to obey the laws of the way, we are unwilling to put ourselves out for others, we want to pass everybody else on the road, do as we please and call it the way. On this same trip I mentioned just now, we came to a big fine car lying across the ditch at the side of the road, the front wheels were in the adjoining field and a dead man had been lifted out of the wreck. He was unwilling to follow the safe way and his life was snuffed out.

I do not like to preach at people, I do not like to be disagreeable, it seems useless to try to stem the tide of indulgence and reckless disregard for every thing sacred which flaunts itself at us who may live in or near the large cities, but at the risk of losing your interest and attention I am old fashioned enough to point out the great sign of the road, the sign which Jesus left for our guidance, the Way of Life he pointed out and which he makes so clear in this parable of the Good Shepherd.

There is a wonderful promise in this parable. Jesus said, "I know mine own." Among the seventeen hundred millions of human beings on this earth of ours I am lost as an individual. I like to think that God knows my name, that He knows where I live and what I am trying to do, that he can tell the names of each one of us and direct our destinies. The shepherd in Palestine knew every sheep in his flock, called them by name and it was considered a remarkable thing. Yet Jesus said that he knew each one of us by name.

Then there is another promise. He not only knows me and you and our children and our friends by name, He is ready to lay down His own life for us if necessary. That is what He said in this parable we are studying. It was not an idle gesture, that is exactly what He did.

Jesus pointed us the Way of Christianity. It has proven joy and glory for millions of men and women, who have lived and died in the Christian faith and is ours today if we want to follow it.

"To every man there openeth
A Way and Ways and a Way,
And the High Soul climbs the High Way,
And the Low Soul gropes the Low;
And in between on the misty flats
The rest drift to and fro,
But to every man there openeth
A High Way and a Low,
And every man decideth
The Way his Soul shall go."

JESUS THE GOOD SHEPHERD.
John 10: 1-5, 11-16.

Verily, verily, I say unto you: He that enterth not by the door into the sheepfold, but climeth up some other way, the same is a thief and a robber.

2 But he that entereth in by the door is the shepherd of the sheep.

3 To him the porter openeth; and the sheep hear his voice; and he calleth his own sheep by name, and leadeth them out.

4 And when he putteth forth his own sheep, he goeth before them, and the sheep follow him; for they know his voice.

5 And a stranger will they not follow, but flee from him; for they know not the voice of strangers.

11 I am the good shepherd: the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep.

12 But he that is an hireling, and not the shepherd, whose own the sheep are not, seeth the wolf coming; and the wolf catcheth them, and scattereth the sheep.

13 The hireling fleeth, because he is an hireling, and careth not for the sheep.

14 I am the good shepherd, and know my sheep, and am known of mine.

15 As the Father knoweth me, even so know I the Father; and I lay down my life for the sheep.

16 And other sheep I have, which are not of this fold; them also I must bring, and they shall hear my voice; and there shall be one fold, and one shepherd.

We had a good day last Sunday with a fine attendance at Sunday School and all the other services. We missed our efficient and congenial Sunday School Superintendent, G. L. Owen, but we were glad to get a message from him and his birthday offering. He sent one dollar, but that does not mean that he is one hundred years of age. He said in part: "I am sending my birthday money, and while the amount is slightly more than a penny per year for the years I have lived, it represents the number of beautiful cards and letters I received on my birthday. They were like a rift of sunshine through a cloudy sky. May God bless you and keep you!" We will be glad when after a short rest Brother Owen will be back to lead us again.

Our Second Quarterly Conference will be held Friday night, Feb. 12, at 7:30. A full attendance of officials is desired.

We will have our regular services next Sunday at the regular hours.

The General Store Was Lincoln's First Bank

WITH a conviction that part of his business was to save regularly, Abraham Lincoln started a bank account at the earliest possible moment in his life.

Back of this determination to save was the experience of the first 23 years of his life, years of hard labor, when produce, and not cash, was the reward of his industry with the ax.

When he married at the age of 34, his income from the Law was about $25 a week. The General Store which outfitted his home also served as his bank.

In spite of small earnings, he always managed to keep a little ahead of the game. In spite of moderate charges for his services—he always managed to save something.

As we honor Lincoln for his sterling Americanism, his great, tender heart, his courage and his vision—let us remember too, that he built an estate through industry and thrift

Doing His Duty

"For two years I suffered agonizing pains in my stomach, belching up sour and bitter fluids and gas. Tongue always coated. Doctors were unable to help me. The first dose of Mayr's "one dose will convince" made me feel 100 per cent better, and I am now feeling better than at any time in my life. I deem it my duty to advise other sufferers." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. All druggists.—Advertisement.

Bearcats Defeat Springfield 30-22; and What a Game It Was

A howl of victory reverberated over the basketball prairie shortly after 9 o'clock last night, as a blood-stained Bearcat sat on his haunches, licked his chops, and reflectively eyed a crestfallen Bear which he had just chased into the topmost boughs of the tree of defeat.

The Bearcat and the Bear had just terminated a fight for possession of a little knoll on the prairie, on which some historic prospector had hung up a sign which denoted it to be the leadership knoll in the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association foothills. For some time, the Bear had been camping on this knoll, much to the ire of the astute Bearcat. Last night the two battled to see just who should hang his mess-kit there, and today the Bear, his stubby tail wagging no longer, is moving his bags and baggage to a less presumptious spot, while the Bearcat is doing a bit of spring house-cleaning, preparatory to a long residence.

Perhaps you would like to know something about that battle last night, such a battle as is seldom fought.

The Bearcat and the Bear met in what is known as the New College Arena. All Christendom was there. The sport kings and the fan queens were in abundance, and when the mighty arbitrator blew his whistle to start the fray, where there had before been room for 1600 spectators there was then space for scarcely one royal family.

But here it is—in terms of basketball:

Springfield started the game with a vicious offense, which, after two minutes of play, netted them a field goal. Immediately they repeated with another, and soon came a third, placing the score at 6-0 in the visitors' favor. The Bearcats took time out.

After a respite of one minute, the play was resumed. Maryville scored one; she scored again. Then a long shot by Joy, guard, tied the count.

A moment later, Springfield, in the person of Davis, captain, tallied from the free-throw line. And then, Burks, Maryville forward, dribbled, pivoted, poised, and shot. The ball went true. Maryville led, 8 to 7.

Then Ray Britton, Springfield center, frisked one through after a melee under the wicket. Springfield led, 9-8.

"Abie" Blomfield constructed some what on the order of the Woolworth Building, was fouled by Roy Britton, who was substituted for his twin. He stepped to the foul line. The crowd begged for the flip which would tie the score. And "Abie" delivered. Score 9 to 9.

Then Burks scored a free throw, but immediately, Mumford, guard, tied the score with a singleton.

Then Joy made a charity toss. Springfield called time, and after the rest, Fox, forward, tallied from the field, and Davis lopped a 1-pointer. Berst next scored for Maryville. Another free toss by Davis broke the 13-13 tie and gave Springfield the lead.

The half was almost over. Berst shot again, and Maryville led, 15-14. Then the gun went off.

Springfield started the second semester with a sleeper. Fox, forward, was loose under the basket. He took a long pass from center and put his team in the lead. Then Captain Davis increased the margin 2 points more. Maryville took time out.

Burks scored next, with a neat toss from near mid-court. Then Captain Aldrich was fouled and dropped one in to tie it at 20-all.

The score stood thus with 4 minutes to play. In those four minutes, the Bearcats spurted, scored 10 points, and cinched the victory. Springfield marked two free goals for her final score of 22 points. Maryville was in possession of the ball when the game ended.

Ward, at guard, and Captain Davis, at forward, were the outstanding Springfield players. Ward played a wonderful defensive game, and he played it in a sportsmanlike manner. The whole game, for that matter, was clean and hard-fought.

The following starred for Maryville: Captain Aldrich, Burks, Berst, Blomfield and Joy.

A word about each:

Aldrich played possibly the best game of his career. He was in the fight all the time, and his follow-up was sensational. He participated in more plays under his own basket than any other player on the floor.

Burks, with his dribble, his hook, and his long, arching shots, was cause enough for the town of Pickering to believe that the United States is built around it. This boy, who smiles all the time, delighted the crowd with the clever manner in which hen handled the ball. His 13 points were opportune, let us say.

In the center, Berst played a whale of a game. He was particularly adept at robbing the ball from Springfield players, and then stopping long enough to smiled benignly before he started the offense toward his own goal.

And, who said "Abie" Blomfield wasn't a rip-roarin' guard? Those who saw him play the Springfield rebounds, intercept the Bear passes, and spread his several rods of human carcass all over the floor when need be, are frank in their admission that he was a potent factor in the victory. Although a guard, he did the jumping for Maryville, and right manfully did he elevate himself.

And last comes Joy, last only because his name was last in the line-up. He was more composed than any of his fellows, and he came through in the pinches—oh boy!—but he came through.

The crowd at the game was the largest of the season, larger even than at the K. C. A. C. or Hillyard games. It was a real basketball crowd, ever supporting its team, but always generous in applause when Springfield scored sensationally.

John Bunn refereed the game. Not one objection could be raised on his work. He was fast, accurate, and fair. And he's coming back again.

The battle will go down in history. Who can forget it? Who would have missed it? It was colossal. It was tremendous. It was titanic.

The score:

Bulldogs Lead All the Way—Score at Halftime is 15 To 8.

The Kirksville State Teachers Bulldogs won a 30-to-26 game last night at Kirksville from the Cape Girardeau Indians. The victors led all the way, the score at halftime being 15 to 8.

Toward the last of the game, with his team holding a 12-point advantage Coach Faurot began to substitute freely. It was then that the Cape spurted and cut the lead to 4 points. Faurot then inserted his first string again, and the remainder of the game was scoreless.

Simmons, Kirksville center, led his team by scoring 10 points. Mahew, Cape forward, was the high-point man of the game with 12 points.

E. C. Quigley refereed the game. Cape Girardeau plays at Warrensburg tonight.

The line-ups: Kirksville: L. Craig, and Cowell, forwards; Simmons, center; Norris and O. Craig, guards; Eggert, Milstead, Perry, Shofstall, Scott, and Streeter, substitutes.

They will play their first game at 8:30 o'clock tonight when they meet the Tarkio High School girls. About twenty teams are entered in the tournament. Of these, five, Rockport, Burlington Junction, Tarkio, Pattonsburg, and Maryville, are in Class A. Teams from Missouri, Kansas, Iowa, and Nebraska are entered.

Team	W.	L.	Pct.	Pts.	OP
Maryville	4	1	.800	139	119
Springfield	2	1	.666	84	75
Kirksville	2	3	.400	123	124
Warrensburg	1	2	.333	67	104
Cape Girardeau	1	3	.250	114	105

There is a new leader in the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association. By virtue of a 30-22 victory over Springfield last night, the Maryville Bearcats now lead the percentage list with a mark of .800, while the Bears drop to second place with .666.

Kirksville, yesterday at the bottom of the list, now is in third place, while Cape Girardeau, third place team yesterday, is at the bottom.

Tonight there is one game, Cape playing at Warrensburg. Tomorrow night Kirksville and Springfield meet at Kirksville.

The conference season is half-way over today. Of the twenty games in the round-robin schedule, ten have been played.

There were five games played in the intra-mural tournament last week at the College gymnasium. The teams entered in the tournament are all composed of college and college high school students. The Dorm boys and the Shooting Stars were tied for first place up to last Tuesday night, when the Shooting Stars defeated their nearest competitors. Each team will now play another team once and the final victors of this set of games, win the championship. About five games will be played.

The various games have been hard-fought ones and most of the teams are evenly matched. This tournament is under the supervision of coach "Pete" Jones.

"Shorty" Lawrence played a strategic card in the basketball game with Springfield last night. His team had already had the three times out alloted it, and Paul Burks was hurt. This meant a fourth time-out, and a free throw for the visitors. The score was tied, 20-20.

Lawrence had substituted Hedges a moment before, and, to avert the penalty, he went within the rules and substituted Captain Aldrich back again. This made the injury not count a time out, and there was no foul.

Both Maryville High School teams play away this week-end. The boys meet Lafayette of St. Joseph at St. Joseph tonight, while the girls are at Tarkio at the Tri-State tournament.

The girls' pep squad at the College gave a series of drills between halves of the game last night. The members of the squad formed a letter M and S, and ended with a valiant effort at a sort of sailors' hornpipe, which left them quite red of face and equally out of wind.

Barnard Victorious Over St. Patrick's

Two Maryville Teams Lose Double-Header in Basketball There Last Night

The St. Patrick's School participated in two basketball games last night at Barnard. Both of these were won by the Barnard teams, and in both the victors doubled the score on their Maryville opponents.

In the first game, between the second teams, not a field goal was made. The Barnard team made two free throws, and the St. Pat's quintet made one.

The score of the second game was 18 to 9. Wilson was high-point for Barnard with 6 points and Doffing led the Maryville scoring with 3 points.

Girls' Cage Tourney at Parnell Tomorrow

Four teams: Grant City, Barnard, Ravenwood, and Parnell, will participate in a high school girls' basketball tournament at Parnell tomorrow. The preliminary game will be played in the afternoon and the finals at night.

A silver loving cup will be given the winner.

Games Last Night.
